New England Board of Higher Education's Regional Student Program (RSP) Tuition Break

2010-11 Annual Report Executive Summary

Enrollment in the New England Board of Higher Education's Regional Student Program (RSP) Tuition Break rose to a record high of 9,161 students in 2010-11, up 4 percent over 2009-10.

Now in its 54th year, the RSP Tuition Break saved New England residents an estimated $53 million on their 2010-11 tuition payments.. Each participating RSP student enrolled full time saved an estimated $7,000 on this year's tuition bill alone.

NEBHE established the RSP in 1957-58 to fulfill the purposes of the congressionally authorized New England Higher Education Compact – expanding educational opportunities for New England residents and sharing higher education resources.

Since it was established, the RSP has provided New England residents with discounts on more than 240,000 annual college tuition bills, with the total savings estimated to be well over $1 billion in current dollars.

Meanwhile, the region's public colleges and universities received more than $57 million in tuition revenue from the RSP students enrolled in 2010-11. The RSP helps participating campuses attract and retain out-of-state New England students who might have attended college elsewhere if the RSP tuition discount were not available.

Because of NEBHE and its RSP, New England residents are eligible for a tuition discount when they enroll at out-of-state public colleges and universities in the six-state region and pursue approved degree programs not offered by their home-state public institutions. In some cases, eligibility also extends to students whose home is closer to an out-of-state college than to an in-state college.

New England's community colleges saw the most dramatic RSP enrollment increase this year, up 9 percent from last year. The increase fits with an overall trend in greater enrollment at the community colleges during an economic downturn.

The region's community colleges offer an array of specialized programs through the RSP, such as automotive technology, biotechnology, energy technology, fiber optics, fire science, game programming and medical technology. In addition, they provide a flexible and affordable option for the first year or two of study for bachelor's degree-seeking students. Also, many of the community colleges located near state borders offer the RSP tuition discount to students in neighboring states, where the nearest home-state community college is farther from home.

In all, more than 700 undergraduate and graduate degree programs are made available under the RSP by New England's 80 public colleges and universities. The bachelor's and graduate degree-granting institutions offer hundreds of specialized and high-demand fields of study, such as pharmacy, dental medicine, biomedical engineering, aquaculture, design, communications and media, criminal justice and law, meteorology, health care management, Chinese, Japanese and physiology and neurobiology.

Program offerings through the RSP continue to expand. In 2010, the region's public colleges and universities approved 17 new RSP programs, including associate degree programs in renewable energy and health information management; bachelor's degree programs in book arts, environmental health, holocaust and genocide studies, and labor relations; and graduate programs in biomedical sciences, financial risk management and global policy.

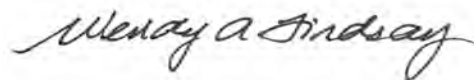

The RSP eliminates the need to duplicate academic programs offered by public colleges and universities in other New England states and therefore helps the individual New England states and their public higher education institutions avoid countless billions of dollars in capital and operating expenditures.

This report provides data on RSP enrollment and tuition revenue and savings for the 2010-11 academic year, as well as historical data. NEBHE thanks the campus officials who provided detailed fall 2010 RSP enrollment information, as well as the RSP representatives and administrators who oversee the ongoing participation of their institutions in the RSP.

NEBHE extends appreciation to the state legislators and governors of the six New England states for their steadfast commitment to regional collaboration. In this difficult economic climate, when financing a college education is an even more pressing concern, NEBHE's Tuition Break program provides much-needed tuition relief to New England students and families and fosters cost-efficient resource-sharing among the six New England states.

Specifically, the FTE was determined by adding 40 percent of an institution's reported part-time enrollment to its reported full-time enrollment  $[(\text{Part-time Enrollment} \times 0.4) + \text{Full-time Enrollment} = \text{FTE}]$ . Tuition savings equals the discount on out-of-state tuition that Connecticut residents receive because of the RSP. Revenue figures represent the tuition paid by incoming RSP students. Net revenue equals the RSP surcharge above the in-state rate. All tuition revenue and savings figures are estimates based on annual tuition rates and FTE figures for the fall 2010 semester. ## Summary of 2010-11 Regional Student Program (RSP) Data

2010-11 RSP Tuition Savings and Revenue

The New England Board of Higher Education's Regional Student Program (RSP) Tuition Break provided New England residents an estimated total of $53 million in savings on their 2010-11 tuition bills. The average savings for a full-time RSP student was about $7,000. Total RSP tuition savings increased 4 percent over last year. The RSP participating institutions received more than $57 million in tuition revenue from RSP students in 2010-11, up 9 percent over last year (See Figs. 1 and 2).

The majority of RSP institutions set their RSP tuition at 150 percent of their in-state rate. The maximum RSP tuition rate approved by NEBHE is 175 percent of the in-state rate (effective Fall 2006). The following institutions charge the 175 percent rate: Keene State College, Massachusetts Maritime Academy, Plymouth State University, University of Connecticut, University of Massachusetts Amherst, University of Massachusetts Worcester School of Nursing, University of New Hampshire (Undergraduate), University of New Hampshire at Manchester, University of Rhode Island (Undergraduate) and University of Vermont.

2010-11 RSP Enrollment Data

Total RSP enrollment this academic year was a headcount of 9,161, up 4 percent over last year. Enrollment at the community colleges increased by 9 percent; undergraduate enrollment at bachelor's degree-granting institutions was up 4 percent, and graduate enrollment was down 10 percent.

The majority of RSP students were undergraduate students: 50 percent were enrolled at four-year public colleges and universities, and 42 percent were enrolled at community colleges.

For detailed enrollment by state, type of institution and institution, see Figs. 1 through 9. Enrollment data for individual degree programs at each institution are provided in the Appendix.

History of RSP Participation

Since the first year of RSP enrollment in 1957, the RSP has provided New England students with discounts on more than 240,000 annual tuition bills (See Fig. 11). The RSP has afforded participating students a total of more than $1 billion in tuition savings, when calculated in current dollars.

Data Source

The New England Board of Higher Education surveyed all of the RSP participating institutions for Fall 2010 enrollment data and student characteristics. NEBHE calculated annual 2010-11 enrollment and tuition savings and revenue data, based on fall 2010 enrollment data and annual tuition rates.

NEBHE's Regional Student Program (RSP) provided New England residents an estimated total of $52.9 million in savings on their 2010-11 tuition bills. The average annual tuition discount for a full-time RSP student was $6,945. The RSP participating institutions received an estimated total of $57.2 million in tuition revenue from RSP students.

NOTES: All tuition revenue and savings figures are estimates based on annual tuition rates and FTE figures for the fall 2010 semester. The full-time equivalent (FTE) enrollments were calculated using a modified version of the U.S. Department of Education's methodology. Specifically, the FTE was determined by adding 40 percent of an institution's reported part-time enrollment to its reported full-time enrollment [(Part-time Enrollment x 0.4) + Full-time Enrollment = FTE]. Total numbers may vary slightly due to rounding.

NOTES: The following institutions reported no RSP enrollment in 2010-11:

Connecticut: Capital, Gateway, Manchester, Naugatuck & Norwalk Community Colleges.

Maine: Eastern Maine Community College, University of Maine at Presque Isle.

Massachusetts: Cape Cod, Massasoit & Roxbury Community Colleges.
